North development certain - Patrick

"We consider Alberta something unique," said Hon. A. R. Patrick, minister of mines and minerals, in an address before approximately 70 delegates to the Edmonton Area Industrial Development Association meeting in St. Albert Friday.

Commenting on the fact that Alberta is neither an average industrial nor average agricultural province, he said that development to the north was assured in Alberta while the Great Canadian Shield acted as a barrier to northern development in other provinces. Forerunners of this development are already evidenced by the Pine Point railroad and the Mackenzie highway, he said.

While this northern barrier confines many provinces to a "ribbon of development north of the U.S. border," he stated that "this whole province will develop -- not just along the southern fringe."

Many parts of the country are looking at cutting out 50 per cent of their towns and villages in order to increase industrial development in larger centres, he said.

"We don't have to start writing off villages and hamlets as they're going to grow, and in the Northern half of this province we're going to see some wonderful new towns."

Commenting on a trade mission to Britain, the former minister of tourism spoke of technological development noted in London, Bristol and Newcastle where outstanding examples of automation were viewed.

"We are just coming into a chapter in our industrial history where we will see great technological advancement," he said. He mentioned in particular work to be undertaken in the fields of rapid transportation and pollution control.

"We should not get too localized on our problems," he said, adding that other parts of the world have the same problems of rising interest rates and inflation.

He described these problems as "world wide."

"We have got the best of everything going for us here," he said, concluding with the remark that he had a "romantic" view of Alberta.

"I like to think that I am in a place that has the potential for growth that we have here."

Mayor Ray Gibbon acted as chairman of the luncheon meeting which was hosted by the Town of St. Albert.

Council considers plebiscite on annexation

A possible plebiscite to be held at the time of October elections to determine whether residents of St. Albert want annexation to the City of Edmonton was discussed at Monday night's council meeting.

Mayor Ray Gibbon pointed out that if such a plebiscite is to be held in October, council would have to reach a decision by the middle of August in order to allow sufficient time for arrangements.

Council agreed to table a motion calling for the plebscite until such time as a proposal is received from Woods, Gordon and Co., management consultants, regarding a study which they wish to undertake for the town. The study would define the potential impact on the town of annexation to the City of Edmonton, as well as the impact of annexation by St. Albert of land surrounding the town.

The general view of council was that, whether or not the study is commissioned by the town, much more in-

$150,000,000 Sturgeon project could begin in 1972

The Sturgeon River basin project is not one of those which was shelved by the provincial government under the current austerity program.

A four-phase study involving 18 agencies is being carried out by the water resources branch, and the government expects it will be completed in 1971. Hopefully a start on the project will be made in 1972.

Total cost for the entire over-all plan for the river basin development is estimated at between 150 and 250 million dollars. It is not known whether the federal government will assist in the financing, but it appears doubtful as the Canada Water Act provides for cost sharing in river developments of national interest, which the Sturgeon river is not.

These were the major points brought out by Mr. Reg Bailey, director of water resources, and Mr. Tuffy Mussivand, senior planning engineer and project director for the Sturgeon River Basin development, at a Chamber of Commerce meeting in St. Albert last night.

About 104 people attended the meeting including Mayors Gibbon and Mabbutt from St. Albert and Gibbons, Reeve Kluthe of MD Sturgeon, a number of farmers union members from the district, and a group of some 16 Grade 11 students of Paul Kane High School and several of their teachers.

The students have been doing their own research project on the Sturgeon River as part of a study on pollution. They brought graphs and slides to illustrate some of their findings which were described to the meeting by Debbie Page and Victor Post.

A letter to Mayor Ray Gibbon from Dr. E. D. Blodgett of 12 Grantham Place was considered by council Monday.

In his letter, Dr. Blodgett referred to a newspaper story regarding a public appeal against pollution made by students of Sir Alexander Mackenzie school. He asked "what real efforts are presently being made to discontinue pollution of the Sturgeon?"

Council voted 5-2 in favor of advising Dr. Blodgett:

(1) that a study is being undertaken regarding improvement of the quality of effluent discharged from the existing sewage lagoons and recommendations from this report will be implemented as soon as economically feasible;

(2) that relocation of the existing nuisance grounds is under active negotiation and Bailey and Mussivand of the water resources branch were main speakers. Debbie Page and Vic Post (who took the photo) spoke on the Paul Kane students pollution project.

Fish and Game gets glimpse of future

Julian Kinisky, colorful and super-articulate president of an Edmonton firm known as Geo Science Research Associates, came to St. Albert last night to show members and guests of the St. Albert and District Fish and Game Association a computer-produced film dealing with man and his environment.

Many of the more than 100 people who turned out for the film and talk may have been somewhat bewildered at first by Mr. Kinisky's rapid-fire explanation of the graphs, charts and ever-changing diagrams that represented projected effects on our environment by man's decisions and manipulations continued on page 9

Around Town

Mrs. S. Kashton, who last week reported to the Gazette the loss of her daughter's new bicycle, wishes to thank John Demers, watchman at Grandin Shoppers Park, and the RCMP for the prompt return of the bicycle after it was discovered at the shopping centre.

Mrs. Kashton adds that daughter Cynthia is overjoyed at the return of her birthday present.

The St. Albert United Church Women held their annual barbeque recently at 6 Green Grove Drive, the home of Dr. W. Cuts. Sixty-five members and guests attended.

Contests and get-acquainted games were enjoyed by all and the evening ended with sing song around the bonfire.

We welcome the following to St. Albert.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Grave and family; Mr. and Mrs. H. R. Pearson and family; Mr. and Mrs. W. McDonald and family; Mr. and Mrs. G. Carfantan; Mr. and Mrs. W. Smith of the Grandin Park district.

NEVER ENDING

At the funeral of a friend who had taught school for years, the minister had many fine things to say about her character, ending on the note she was carrying on her work in heaven.

One teacher who was in attendance whispered to a fellow teacher: "Don't we ever get to quit?"

director Walter Vande Walle, Lawrence Kluths, reeve of the Municipal District of Sturgeon, William Tomy, Russell McKinney, managing director of EAIDA, Mayor Ben Knowles of Fort Saskatchewan, Mr. Patrick, Roger Parker, reeve of Strathcona, Director Rene Kamboort, Keith Everett MLA and St. Albert Councillors John Bakker and Frank Lukay.

Delegates toured the Pro-Western Plastics Ltd. plant during the morning session. Buses were provided by the town's two school boards. Prior to the luncheon meeting, the St. Albert and District Chamber of Commerce hosted a reception for delegates in the Curling Club lounge.

Main aim of EAIDA is to promote industrial growth and development within the Edmonton area. There are 22 member towns, counties and municipal districts represented in the association. Industrial opportunities available in the area are extensively advertised through trade magazines, particularly the Financial Times.

The next regular meeting of the association is scheduled for Tofteld, Sept. 18.

formation would have to be made available to residents before asking them to vote on such an important issue.

Councillor John de Bruijn stated that he felt it was too "nebulous" an undertaking to ask residents if they are in favor or not in favor of annexation. "We have to have a concrete proposal before we ask them to vote," he said.

Councillor Frank Lukay suggested that an attempt should be made to get some definite information from the City of Edmonton as to its expansion plans.

Some sort of commitment as to future plans of the provincial government should also be sought, stated Councillor R. G. Wheatley.

"We're entitled to know what we're to be faced with," he said.

In discussing the difference in mill rates between Edmonton and St. Albert — one factor which voters would consider in voicing approval or disapproval of annexation — Councillor J. J. Bakker stated that the gap is closing and that with good budget control it is quite possible the St. Albert mill rate will be down in 70 in two years' time.

Councillor Bakker also pointed out that information bulletins to be issued by the town, which he has advocated for some time, would be required to make people aware of the implications of annexation to the City of Edmonton. He also stated that public meetings should be held to discuss annexation prior to a plebiscite being held.

Councillor de Bruijn agreed that public meetings that would encourage an exchange of opinion would be beneficial.

"One of the greatest problems in St. Albert is the lack of a strong identity as a community and a lack of community spirit," he said.

ious points and had tested for iron, nitrates, sulphates oxygen, chloride, conductivity, and ignition loss. Debie's report pointed clearly to the sewage lagoon and the town dump as major villains in these tests. Victor's colored slides showed graphically how garbage, old car bodies and an ugly variety of debris were despoiling the river banks and the river itself. Both students pointed out what could be done to make the river and Big Lake a beautiful recreation area.

Mr. Bill Penrose introduced the students and later commended them for their fine work and interest, along with teachers, Mr. G. Manyuk and Mr. J. Darroch who are supervising the pollution study.

Mr. Bill Veness, who was the opening speaker on the program, reviewed the history of work done towards improving the Sturgeon River over many years, noting that in addition to being a major recreation facility in both winter and summer, the Sturgeon had also provided good water for drinking and cooking in early days. He commented that Tuesday night's meeting was the first time he had seen so much interest in the river, and urged the audience to keep it up.

Chairman of the meeting, President Ernie Jamison of the St. Albert and District Chamber of Commerce, announced that the Chamber will open an office for two hours each Saturday, Mr. Veness, who is chairman for the Chamber's Sturgeon River Development Authority, will make information available at the office on the authority and endeavor to provide answers for all questions from people interested in this project. The Gazette will carry a further account of Mr. Bailey's and Mr. Mussivand's reports to the meeting next week.

River Pollution

once these negotiations have been finalized, the nuisance grounds will be moved, and (3) that it could be pointed out that the quality of effluent from St. Albert sewage lagoons was tested in 1969 and found to be of higher quality and purer than existing fluid presently travelling the water course.

Councillor R. A. Russell protested against inclusion of the third point in council's reply to Dr. Blodgett. He said that while the statement might have been true in 1969, it was possible it was inaccurate today. Councillors Russell and R. G. Wheatley opposed the motion.

Mayor Ray Gibbon pointed out that St. Albert has no control over the river upstream where four other communities dump effluent into the river.

"We are adhering to provisions of the provincial government in sewage disposal," said Town Engineer Jan Maandag. He added that the town was "looking to improving the situation through expansion of facilities."

Mr. Maandag stated that there is only one month a year when the town is adding to the pollution of the river. This is during the time of discharge of effluent from the sewage lagoons which is done during a period of high water in the spring.

This practice is acceptable to the provincial government, Mr. Maandag stated. "We are in no way contravening the regulations of the provincial government."

Name suggested for arena

Council agreed Monday to refer to the Arena Advisory Board a letter from Erling Winkulst, representing the St. Albert Minor Hockey Association, suggesting that consideration be given to naming the new arena "Erickson Memorial 'Erickson Memorial Arena' in memory of the late Rodney G. Erickson.

The letter cited Mr.

Local boy with Klondike Kids

When the Klondike Kids Motor Scooter Precision Team of Edmonton roars into action in the Rodeo 100 parade June 20, 14-year-old Bruce Charters of 55 Mission Avenue in St. Albert will be among the riders.

Approximately 30 boys, aged 14 to 16, make up the team which is much in demand for parades and for escorting tourists through the city, by arrangement with the Edmonton tourist bureau.

Bruce, a student at St. Alexander Macdonald School, is the only member of the team from St. Albert.

"He joined last year as soon as he was old enough to get his license," says his mother, Mrs. K. Charters.

Bruce comes by his love of motorcycles honestly as his father, who is equipment manager for the Klondike Kids, has always had a great interest in them.

"We have four of them at home at the moment," says Mrs. Charters.

The Klondike Kids are sponsored by the Lord Order of Moose in Edmonton. The boys buy their own scooters and the Moose lodge supplies them with uniforms. The boys pay a deposit which is refunded when the uniforms are turned in to the lodge.

Edmonton is the only city in Canada with such a motor scooter precision team. The boys practice twice a week—usually on the parking lots of shopping centres. Only boys with perfectly clean licenses are eligible to join the team.

parade in Vancouver. Edmonton motorcycle police help to train the boys in safe driving and navigating through heavy traffic.

Tourists appreciate the escort service provided by the Klondike Kids and the boys receive cards from all over Canada and the United States thanking them for their courtesy.

Following participation in the Rodeo 100 parade, the Klondike Kids hope to have an opportunity to give a demonstration of their precision driving.

Town to entertain exchange students

The Town of St. Albert will host a banquet July 4th for students from St. Albert and Quebec who are taking part in a student exchange visit. Council voted Monday in favour of tendering the banquet to honor the 24 students, along with their two chaperones, who come from St. Georges de Beauce, Quebec.

In order that host parents might have an opportunity to meet the entire group of exchange students, the St.

Albert Exchange Committee has suggested to council that parents should be allowed to buy tickets to this banquet. This arrangement was not made for last year's civic banquet honoring exchange students. Council agreed with this suggestion with the provision that the exchange committee would handle ticket sales to parents.

Fish and Game

over a 25-year period.

If this was so, a second run-through of the film and a chance for the audience to ask questions brought things into focus and those present began to appreciate the fascinating picture produced by a program known as "The Total Environmental Resource Management System." The film was produced through facilities of the National Centre for Atmospheric Research in Boulder, Colorado, with which Mr. Kinisky is associated.

Mr. Kinisky assured his audience that the use of a computer to produce the film was not "a piece of gimmickry." It became necessary, he said, as the program which involves studies in zoology, hydrology, botany, air pollution, transportation, pollution dynamics and many other disciplines was so complex that it would be impossible to read the normal output.

In simplest terms, the film showed the effects of a physical system upon a life system.

Starting with a model city, the film shows the grimly fascinating evolution of pollution from industry and its effect on the various suburbs (or divisions of life style) of the city.

City boundaries bulge and eventually give way — as annexation of new land is necessitated by unfavorable conditions in the area of the city effected by pollution. The newly-annexed land in turn attracts industry and the cycle repeats itself. Over the 25-year time projection, population densities are seen to change as people respond to the physical pressure of pollution.

Those with financial and physical mobility choose to move to a more favorable area away from the effects of pollution, thus changing patterns of wealth in the city.

Dramatic evidence of man's manipulation of his environment is shown in a section of the film dealing with the effects of rainfall and river flow on pollution.

When heavy rains raise river levels, there is relatively less pollution due to pollution being diluted. Under drought conditions, when man manipulates the system by taking water from the river for irrigation, massive pollution results contributing to the spread of disease.

A hypothetical, highly contagious disease begins in the area of the city most affected by pollution. Because disadvantaged and therefore less healthy people are seen to populate this less favorable area, the disease spreads dramatically.

Spread of the disease is slowed eventually by its reaching another division of life style where more favorable conditions have attracted the weather — and therefore generally healthier — segment of the population and where population densities are lower. Weather is also shown as a factor in the spread of the disease, with warm weather contributing to a slow-down.

Asked by a member of the audience if the computer-produced film had provided researchers with "anything startling" that couldn't have been found out by other means, Mr. Kinisky replied: "Very definitely." He explained that although it was possible the results shown in the film could have been arrived at in other ways, "it would take the rest of your life to do it."

Of the group involved in the making of the film, he said:

"We're not movie makers. We can make a rational prediction for the general good of society but we don't want to bankrupt ourselves in the attempt. Government has to be sold."

Chances of this happening in the near future are apparently not too good, according to Mr. Kinisky.

"Governments become instantly terrified because the computer helps them make a rational decision, and that's the last thing a politician wants to do."

Around Town

Sixteen Lady Lions got together at Lions Park Monday evening for a welner and corn roast on the occasion of their final meeting for this season. During the short business meeting Lion President Rock Holman presented the club with a gong

"There has to be some rational use for this thing. Once you have a model for a particular community — let's say St. Albert as Edmonton's not progressive enough — man is able to see the ramifications of his proposals in all fields."

As an example, Mr. Kinisky explained that if a large factory were to be considered coming into the St. Albert area, a dozen or so prospective locations could be chosen and predictions as to the amount of air and water pollution that would be caused by locating in each one of the areas, could be done.

"Then you would know what location would have the least effect on the greatest number of people."

He also sees the program as a marvelous tool for informing the public. In the case of a municipal money bylaw, voters could be informed of the long-term effects of the proposed program to be undertaken.

Guess work would be cut out and rational judgements become possible, he said.

Don Hayden, president of the local association, was chairman of the meeting which was held in the Community Hall.

Entertainment was provided by Sing Out St. Albert. Audience response to their four numbers was as enthusiastic as the young people's presentation.

A draw for a fiberglass canoe was made. Winner was Mrs. Doris Melesko of 80 Sunset Boulevard.

School zones impractical

Public works committee of council has been studying the effectiveness of school zones in St. Albert and has reached the conclusion that such zones are not practical as motorists are failing to adjust their speed in school zones during the required hours.

J. J. Bakker, chairman of public works, proposed that in place of reduce-speed zones, more use should be made of proper crosswalks and crosswalk protection.

Council agreed Monday to discuss with the school districts at the joint use meeting, the possibility of eliminating school zones in favor of designating and using crosswalks only.

Further discussion on speed zones arose from a request made earlier by residents of Glenmore Crescent that a 20 mile per hour playground zone be created at a lot connecting Glenmore and Greenview Crescents. Public works committee reports that playgrounds and lot lots are not presently posted.

Council voted 4-2 in favor of installing crosswalks where necessary, rather than placing signs indicating playground or lot lot areas. Councillors J. de Bruijn and R. Kambouff were opposed to the motion.

walkaton

On May 31, Legal Student's Union was supported by 42 students who were willing to participate in a walkathon.

The walk started from Romeo's Confectionary at 1:30 p.m. The walkathon consisted of a 20-mile hike from Legal to Vimy and then back to Legal.

The purpose of this walkathon was to raise funds for our Student's Union. To date not all proceeds have been turned in but it would seem that the walkathon was very successful in reaching its goal.

Consider the carrot!

Basically the carrot is a simple, natural product. You can enjoy it raw and crisp. Or consider variations like the "carrot cocktail" of health-food fame . . . or tender young carrots smothered in butter and served with gourmet food. Yes, there's more to the carrot than meets the eye. Just consider the process behind the carrot on your plate — the costs of farm machinery, fertilizer, marketing and distribution. Electricity is a "natural" product too. But bringing its convenience home to you involves construction, maintenance, sophisticated planning and engineering. While the overall cost of living has increased dramatically, the price of electricity is still one of today's best bargains. And finding a bargain these days is pretty difficult! So — when you consider inflation — think about the carrot on your plate — and in the field . . . and about electricity, another "natural" that goes through many stages before it gets to you!

trict, dating back to before the turn of the century, were examined.

The Sturgeon-Thorhild track and field meet held in Legal recently proved to be a great success for the Legal School.

Five schools were represented at the meet -- Bon Accord, Redwater, Georges P. Vanier, Thorhild and Legal.

The participant to accumulate the most points in his age group was awarded a trophy. Six trophies were awarded, four of them going to Legal. The aggregate trophy was presented to the Legal School for obtaining the most points.

The individual trophies were awarded to -- Anne Kallal, junior girls; Audrey Johnson, Redwater -- senior girls; Jerry Krauskopf -- junior boys; Robert Bilodeau -- intermediate boys; and to Tom Carleton, Bon Accord -- senior boys.

Around Town

The provincial government has announced a conference on recreation, to be chaired by the Hon. Gordon Taylor next October in Edmonton. Various area recreation boards will be holding local meetings during June to discuss objectives of community recreation, adequacy of existing programs and changes which could be made. Mr. Charles Schroeder of 69 Geneva Cres is area recreation board representative for St. Albert.

Four students at St. Albert High accepted an invitation last week to appear on CFRN's television show "Open Line." They discussed high school curriculum matters with Dr. Hocksworth of the department of education under the direction of moderator Bob MacLean. Mary Learning, Elaine Soetaert, Eric Joly and Todd Cassidy visited the station to tape their half-hour part of the program on Thursday, and the show was seen Sunday morning. The program was one of a series involving Edmonton area schools being done by CFRN.

Can We Avoid Real Violence?

In a recent speech, J. C. McRuer, former Chief Justice of Ontario and now engaged in an inquiry into civil rights, went straight to the heart of the question posed by increasing violence in society. He said: "In the relationship of the law to the individual constant vigilance is necessary to see to it that the law does not put in the hands of those in authority unrestricted power to destroy freedom, and that those who enjoy freedom under law have not uncontrolled power to destroy the freedom of others." Mounting violence in the U.S. is clearly bringing unreasoned reaction and stiffening resistance to change. The impasse raises the spectre of an increasingly police-dominated state and all the evils that go with it. If this is not what we want in Canada, The Financial Post comments that these McRuer words are exceedingly pertinent to those with authority as well as those without it.

Improvements sought for teen centre

The Movers, a local teen group, will be allowed to use the teen centre for a further year. Council gave its approval Monday to continued use of the facilities by the club.

Mr. L. Teller and Miss E. McRae of The Movers had attended a finance committee meeting June 1 to report on the operation of the teen centre and to make a number of recommendations.

It was suggested that doors and windows be made burglar-proof, that grounds be landscaped and parking space provided, a cement walkway be laid from the building to the street and that plumbing in the girls' washroom be repaired. Council agreed that the last item should be attended to immediately while the remainder will be referred to town staff for a report.

Council also agreed to a finance committee recommendation that the grounds around the teen centre be levelled for proper drainage.

Move to ban fireworks use

Council has called for the preparation of a bylaw banning the use and sale of fireworks within town limits. Only exceptions would be special functions which would have to receive prior approval from town council or its delegated official.

In introducing the motion Councillor R. A. Russell said he was concerned with both the safety and noise factors.

The matter of fireworks came to council's attention as a result of a letter from the Leo Nickerson Parent-Teacher Association requesting that council ban the sale and use of fireworks within town limits.

It was pointed out by Mayor Ray Gibbon that two bylaws covering the matter were already in effect — one prohibiting the sale of firecrackers to children under 12 years of age and one prohibiting the lighting of fireworks in public places without the permission of the owner or in the streets without the permission of town council or its delegated official.

The vote was 4-3 in favour of requesting the preparation of the new bylaw. Mayor Gibbon and Councillors J. J. Bakker and R. Kambouroff were opposed.

Water still to come from city

Council's hope that St. Albert might be able to meet its water requirements from existing underground sources has been abandoned.

On recommendation from public works committee, council voted in favor of St. Albert relying on the City of Edmonton for its water supply.

Councillor Frank Lukay

had reported to public works committee that following study of the aquifer report produced by the Alberta Research Council, it appeared doubtful that sufficient water could be obtained from underground sources to supply St. Albert's needs, especially in view of the possible extension of the town.

New! What's New in Laxatives?

Not much really that hasn't been available for a long time. The ideal laxative is one that gently "nudges" the intestinal system to activity. Tiny Fruitatives tablets with a combination of extracts of apples, oranges, prunes, figs and medicines is just that. Fruitatives look for the bowl of fruit on the package. At all drug counters.
